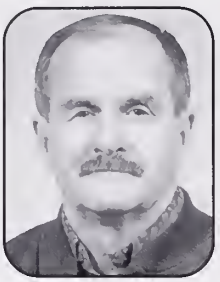
HEAD COACH JOHN McHUGH

25th season at Maryland • Maryland 1959

As an 87-pound junior high school student, John McHugh never pictured himself in the sport of wrestling. Today, he could not picture his life without it. As one of the most successful coaches and wrestlers in Terrapin history, McHugh looks towards his final season at the helm of the Maryland program which he has been a part of over the last five decades. In his 25th year as the head coach in College Park, McHugh has become a symbol of Maryland wrestling with his 280-171-8 career record.



McHugh has announced the 2002-03 season will be his final with the Terps, and has high hopes and expectations that this season, the first in the new state-of-the-art Comcast Center, will be a memorable one.

Since becoming the head coach in 1978, after nine years as an assistant, he has coached six student-athletes to All-American status and 25 ACC champions. His legacy has stretched to the point where the National Wrestling Hall of Fame honored him with a Lifetime Service Award in 1995. Although he has become one of the most respected coaches in the NCAA, his focus has always remained on the present season and working with his team.

While his slight junior high school frame was not enough to keep him out of wrestling as a youngster, his perseverance has pushed him into success ever since. When his older brother told him that the nearby high school varsity team needed someone for its 95-pound weight class, McHugh jumped at the chance. He recalls that on the first day he arrived wearing just a bathing suit and left with burns all over his body from the horse hair-covered mat. He quickly adjusted to the surface and, as a sophomore, won the regionals. By his senior year, he was the state champion.

Upon graduating, McHugh won a scholarship to the University of Maryland where he became a two-time ACC champion and made the nationals three times. His career was highlighted by an appearance in the NCAA semifinals in his senior year–only to be pinned by an Olympian after taking an early 7-3 lead. From Maryland, he spent the next decade in multiple places, from his three years of active duty as a captain in the Marine reserves to coaching at both American University and Catholic University. During this period of time, he attained a master's degree in physical education and taught numerous classes. In 1969, McHugh returned to Maryland as an assistant coach, eventually taking over the reins from William "Sully" Krouse.

While he regrets passing up the opportunity to earn a doctorate in physical education, John McHugh has followed his true passion, and will continue to run the Maryland wrestling program with the heart and determination that he showed on the mats as a Terrapin wrestler.

ASSISTANT COACH TOM MILLER

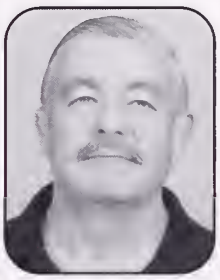
6th season at Maryland • Maryland 1992

Former All-American and two-time ACC champion Tom Miller is in his second year as a full-time assistant coach on the Maryland staff. At the end of the 2000 season, Miller was elevated to a full-time position after serving four years as a graduate assistant coach for Maryland. He returned to College Park after graduating in 1992 with a double major in business/marketing and transportation, but his legacy as a wrestler has always remained. On the mats for the Terps, Miller was a two-time ACC champion at 142 pounds and an All-American in his senior season. He finished his career with 98 victories.

At Elizabethtown High School in Pennsylvania, he recorded his first major accolade with a coveted Pennsylvania state championship. His success on the mat and in the classroom made a solid impact on his future. Upon graduating from Maryland, Miller became a manager for a trucking company in Altoona, Pa. before returning to his alma mater to coach.

ASSISTANT COACH KEVIN KEARNS

23rd season at Maryland • Maryland 1975



Former Terrapin letterwinner Kevin Kearns enters his 23rd season as an assistant on the Maryland staff. Kearns started at Maryland as a student in 1966. In 1970, while a captain of the wrestling team, Kearns was drafted into the United States Army. He served with the 101st Airborne Division in a Recon Team in Vietnam in 1971 and 1972.

Upon his completion of military duty, Kearns returned to the Maryland wrestling program in 1972-73. While earning his bachelor's degree in physical education, he assisted Coach McHugh and the team. Wrestling during this time for the Baltimore Central YMCA, Kearns won the national YMCA Greco championship, the prestigious New York Athletic Club Greco championship and two South Atlantic AAU freestyle championships.

After receiving his degree, he moved to Minnesota to train and wrestle for the United States Greco Roman team. Returning to Maryland in 1976, Kearns was named head coach at Dulaney High School in Timonium, Md. In 1977, he was selected to take the head coaching position at Johns Hopkins University, but returned to Maryland in 1980, where he has served at his current position ever since.

2002-03 SEASON OUTLOOK

In a season that will mark the end of an era in Maryland wrestling, coach John McHugh will try to prove that strong veteran leadership combined with a plethora of underclass talent can equate to an ACC championship.

After 25 years at Maryland, and nearly 250 victories, 25 ACC champions, six All-American wrestlers, five second-place finishes in the ACC, and recognition from the National Wrestling Hall of Fame, Coach John McHugh will step down as head coach of the Maryland wrestling program following the 2002-03 campaign.

Before he retires, Coach McHugh is looking for one last hurrah. With the 17th best recruiting class in the country, according to W.I.N. Magazine, entering Maryland this season, the stage is set for this young yet talented team to make a run at ACC dominance.

Combined with the impressive recruiting class are the three returning seniors, Jake Stork, Mark Reid and Sal Aquia, who will provide the leadership for this relatively young team. Stork returns one year removed from a season in which he won 31 matches and recorded 16 pins on his way to qualifying for the NCAA championships after a second-place finish at the ACC tournament.

Also returning are starters from a season ago, John Antonelli, Adam James, Mike Lupa, and Matt Pandullo. Their combined 38 dual meet matches will provide added leadership to some of the incoming freshmen that will look to contribute.

Vying for starting positions will be newcomers Bryan Rizzo, John-Henry Zarzycki, Luke Stauffer, Greg Lawrence, Jason Kiessling, Brian Mullaney, and Stephen Lanciotti. Rizzo, a freshman, finished with a 23-1 record last season at Easton Area High School, and will compete for the starting job at 133 pounds. Freshman John-Henry Zarzycki is one year removed from a 35-win senior season at Pleasant Valley High School, and a second place finish in the Pennsylvania state meet. Mullaney is a sophomore transfer from UNC-Greensboro, and will look to break into the starting rotation at 165 pounds, and Lanciotti is a transfer from Drexel who recorded 16 wins last season while wrestling for the Dragons. Stauffer placed third last season at the Pennsylvania state meet and Lawrence won the N.Y. state meet on his way to a perfect 40-0 senior season. Kiessling was also a state champion, and was named wrestler of the year in Maryland.

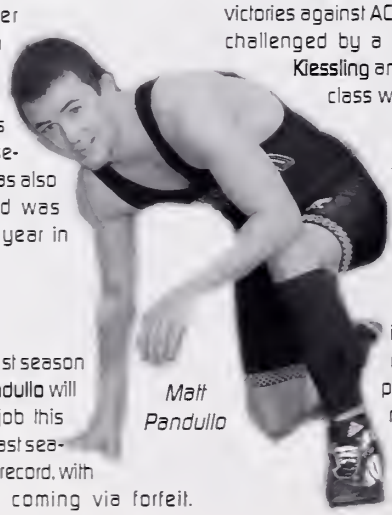
After splitting time last season with Mike Lupa, Matt Pandullo will likely take the starting job this year. Pandullo finished last season with a 4-2 dual meet record, with three of the victories coming via forfeit. Pandullo's most notable victory was a shutout against VMI's Juan Sanchez 6-0. Lupa finished 2-5 last season in seven dual meets, and lost in the first round of the ACC tournament against NC State's George Cintron. Lupa will continue to push and challenge Pandullo throughout the season.



Matt Pandullo

Freshman Bryan Rizzo will be the competition for sophomore Jason Gribschaw. Rizzo was a two-time Pennsylvania state medal winner, and his Easton Area High School team won two state championships in his tenure there. In his final two seasons, Rizzo compiled a record of 45-3. Gribschaw finished last season 5-6 wrestling in three tournaments. In each, the West Virginia Open, the East Stroudsburg Open and the Penn State Open, Gribschaw was able to win the first match of the tournament. At the West Virginia Open, he recorded a 16-1 victory over American's Victor Acquaah-Harrison.

141

Freshman John-Henry Zarzycki will go head-to-head with transfer Stephen Lanciotti. Zarzycki, a native of Brodheadsville, Pa., set the Pleasant Valley High School record for career wins (105) during his four seasons. In his senior year, Zarzycki finished second at the Pennsylvania state meet, and won the Solanco Mule Classic. Lanciotti is in his first season after transferring from Drexel. After redshirting his freshman season there, Lanciotti lettered and recorded 16 victories during his second season.

149

Returning starter Adam James looks to secure his position atop the 149-pound weight class. Last season James finished 22-21 overall including a 5-8 dual meet record. He also placed fourth on the team with four pins on the season. James began the season winning seven of his first nine matches, and posted three victories against ACC opponents. James will be challenged by a pair of freshmen – Jason Kiessling and Luke Stauffer. This weight class will be very competitive.

157

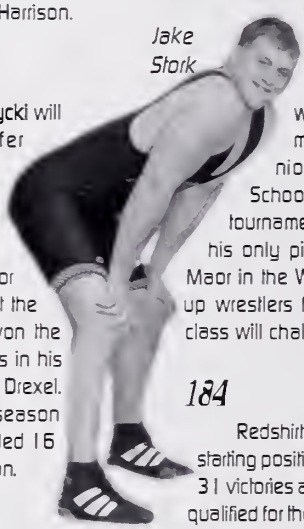
John Antonelli figures to retain his starting position from a season ago. Antonelli finished with an even 14-14 record including a 7-6 record in dual meets. He recorded both pins on the season in a three-match stint at the Penn State Open and the Millersville Invitational, the fastest coming against Eastern Michigan's Chris Slater (3:47) at the Penn State Open. Antonelli will be challenged by sophomore Jason Ellis and junior Matthew Kenny.

165

Redshirt sophomore Patrick Cissne, a 15-match winner one year ago, is expected to start this season. Cissne finished with three dual meet victories and five total pins. En route to a sixth-place finish at the Millersville Invitational, he defeated Duke's Tim Marcantonio for his third victory over three different Duke wrestlers on the season. Transfer Brian Mullaney and sophomore Sean Fehn are expected to push Cissne for the starting spot.

174

This weight class will be highly competitive with senior Lance Kearns returning for his final season. Freshman Greg Lawrence, N.Y state champion one season ago, will be one of top challengers as well. Lawrence is one year removed from a perfect 40-0 senior season at Calhoun High School. Kearns competed in three tournaments last season and recorded his only pin against Hofstra's Marshall Maor in the Wilkes Open. Also, the backup wrestlers from the 165-pound weight class will challenge for the starting spot.



Jake Stork

Redshirt senior Jake Stork will retain the starting position one year after finishing with 31 victories and a team-high 16 pins. Stork qualified for the NCAA tournament for the second consecutive season, and was able to notch two NCAA tournament victories last season. He also won the West Virginia Open last season, and finished second at the ACC tournament for the second consecutive year. Stork is an All-American hopeful, and favorite in the ACC to win the 184-pound championship.

197

Sal Aquia returns to the team after a one-year hiatus, and will be the 197-pound starter. In his last complete season, 2000-01, Aquia finished with 16 victories including five in dual meets. He will be challenged by fellow senior Mark Reid who tallied five wins last year wrestling in the 174-pound weight class.

Heavyweight

Senior Eric Fehnel will assume the starting role this season. Fehnel, who elected to sit out of action the past two years while concentrating on academics, will be challenged by sophomore Scott Cannon, who will also see time on the mats. Cannon recorded a perfect 31 pins in 31 victories as a senior at River Hill High School in Clarksville, Md.

2001-02 SEASON RECAP

Season Review 16

Starting three seniors, as well four true freshmen, Coach John McHugh knew that his team had strong senior leadership as well as young talent.

The Terps finished with a 1-3 dual meet record in the conference, placing fourth at the ACC championships. Overall their 10-4 dual meet record was the best since the 1996-97 campaign in which the team finished 11-3. The 2001-02 team was led by three 20+ match winners, and two 30+ match winners.

Senior Brandon York beefed up to 141 lbs. and captured his fourth ACC championship, and earned his fourth consecutive trip to the NCAA tournament. He is the first Maryland wrestler to ever win four ACC championships, and to qualify for the NCAA tournament four consecutive years. He finished the season with a 37-3 overall record, 13-1 in dual meets. He placed in five tournaments on the season, winning the Wilkes Open, Millersville Invitational and the ACC tournament.

Junior Jake Stork was another highlight for the Terps. He finished the season with 31 victories and a team-high 16 pins. Stork qualified for the NCAA championships for the second consecutive season and notched two victories while there. He also finished second at the ACC tournament for the second consecutive season. Stork won the first two tournaments of the season, the West Virginia Open and the East Stroudsburg Open, and finished second at the Wilkes Open and the Millersville Invitational. Stork won his first 12 matches of the year, and recorded eight pins in a span of 10 victories.

Senior Josh Weidmen finished his second consecutive 25+ victory season in 2002 with nine pins and three tournament finishes in the top three. He won the Wilkes Open and finished second at both the Penn State Open and the Millersville Invitational.

Joe Guzzio was second on the team in both pins (10) and dual meet victories (12). He finished the season with 25-11 record including a 12-2 dual meet record. He finished fifth at the Millersville Invitational.

Breaking through was Maryland native Adam James. The freshman James compiled a 22-21 record including five dual meet victories. His 22 wins and four pins were both fourth best on the team. Also seeing time was freshman John Antonelli who was the regular starter at 157 lbs., 174-pound starter junior Mark Reid, sophomore heavyweight Jeremy Duncan who won eight dual meets, and Mike Lupa who split time with Matt Pandullo in the 125-pound weight class.

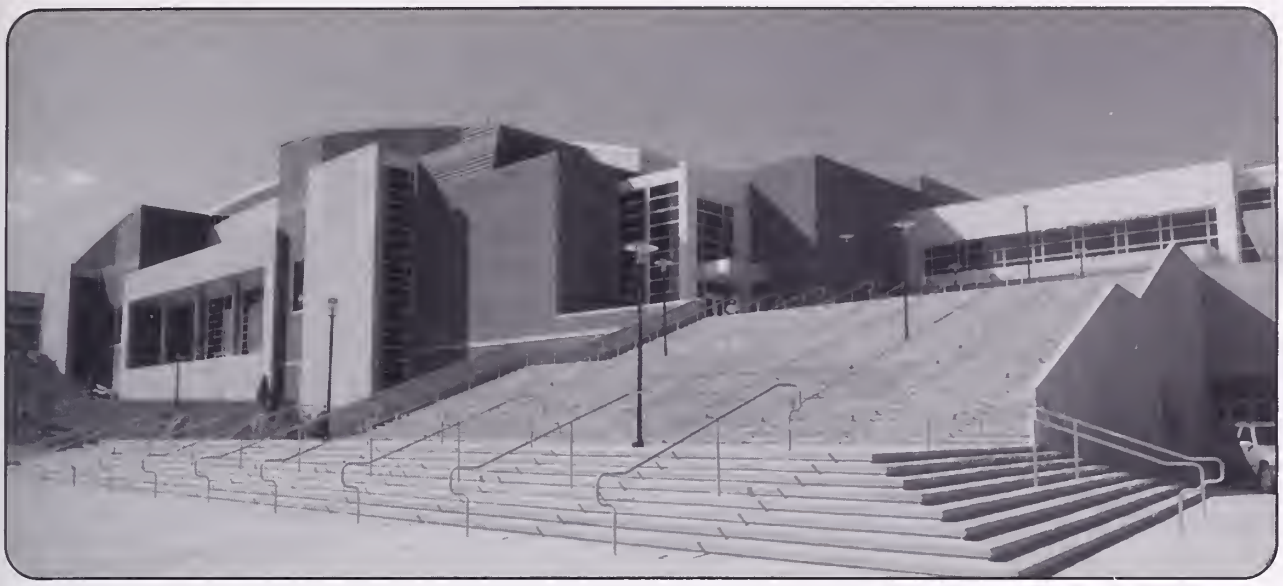
COMCAST CENTER



Maryland's new student activities building and home of Maryland Athletics was completed in fall 2002. Comcast Center's main arena provides a seating capacity of 17,950 fans for basketball, and will serve as a campus site for university special events and select community events.

An additional 1,500-seat gym serves as home to the Terps' wrestling, gymnastics and volleyball teams, and the Nextel Heritage Hall multi-purpose room (capacity 400) is equipped to host banquets, press conferences, large meetings and serve as a pre-game restaurant suite overlooking the competition arena.

The Comcast Center also houses the university's athletics administration offices and includes a 7,000-square-foot Academic Support Center, providing an enhanced study atmosphere for the school's nearly-700 student-athletes on 25 teams.

The Terrapins' first public event for basketball was its annual Midnight Madness celebration. Both basketball teams have state-of-the-art facilities at their fingertips including locker room and lounge areas, training areas complete with jacuzzis, and outstanding weight training facilities.

Twenty suites provide enhanced viewing and entertainment capabilities for Maryland fans. Maryland's student seating capacity accommodates 4,000, with students ringing the first 10 rows around the floor and a majority of seats on the arena's west wall.

Comcast Center is an excellent place for alumni and fans to enjoy their favorite sports and share their common Terrapin spirit. Visitors will learn about the men and women who have made Maryland Athletics great as they stroll through the dramatic Terrapin Walk of Fame and History. And the Terrapin Team Store, located just off the soaring three-level atrium lobby, allows visitors to outfit their pride. Maryland has once again reclaimed the status of having the best student activities center and athletics home in the country.

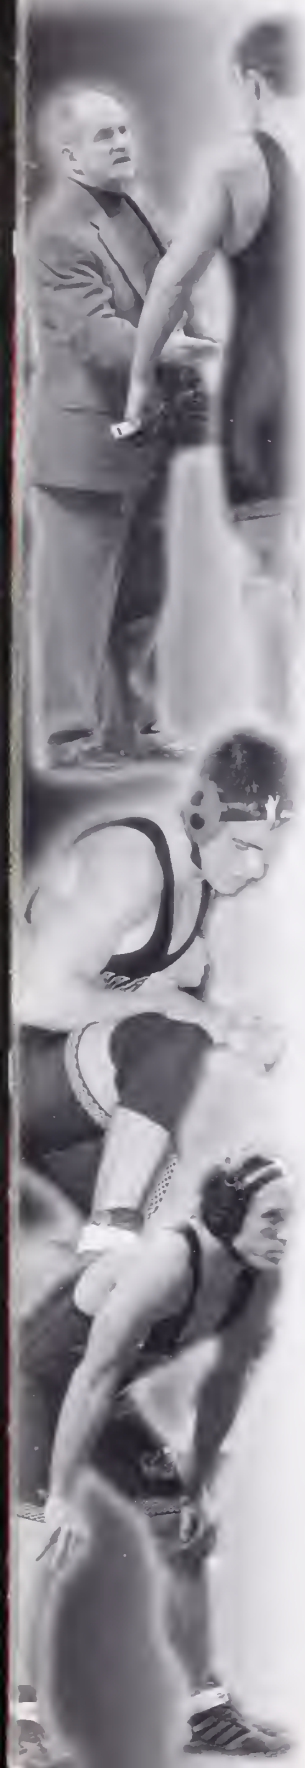
University Of MARYLAND



"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Fourteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions, and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY

The Campus

By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. The momentum of recent years has poised the university to move it into the top ranks of higher education and take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century.

The university has enjoyed a decade of momentum in all of the areas that affect quality, beginning with the quality of our students. For more than 10 years, every freshman class has been the most talented in the university's history, including this year's. Not only are their grade-point averages and SAT scores stellar, about half of them finished in the top 10 percent of their high school graduating class.

But Maryland students excel in more ways than just the classroom. They are leaders in the arts and culture, community service, civic engagement and athletics.

What's more, the student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 32 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation.

The university has 65 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the Top 25 by U.S. News and World Report, up from just one program in 1991.

Sponsored research and outreach has nearly tripled in the same 10-year period, reaching $308.5 million for FY 01. Private giving has increased even more dramatically, from $17 million to $77 million in FY01. Alumni Association membership has been growing at an average rate of 10 percent a year since 1992.

One of the largest research universities in the United States, current enrollment stands at 25,099 undergraduate and 9,061 graduate. There are 94 undergraduate programs, 89 master's programs, 70 doctoral programs, and one first professional degree program. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy.

Maryland is one of 30 public universities in the prestigious 63-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

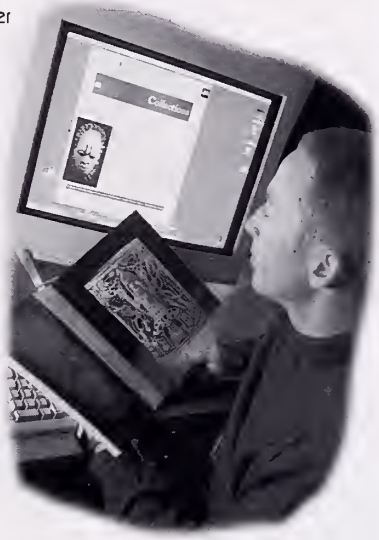
Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library, White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their special interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus, and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.



The university's enviable location – just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis – enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support, and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The university last year opened the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center, with its six state-of-the art performance halls, which has quickly become a center of cultural programming in the Washington metropolitan area. The university also boasts four art galleries and a broad range of public art throughout the beautiful campus. Additionally intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.

C.D. MOTE JR.

25 Univ. of Maryland

University President
Fifth Year at Maryland • California 1959

When C.D. "Dan" Mote Jr. became the 19th president of the University of Maryland on Sept. 1, 1998 he proclaimed it a university "on the move." Four years later, under his guidance, Maryland continues to move – at an ever accelerating rate – on the field, in the classroom, in the community, and in the world.

The University of Maryland is the state of Maryland's most important asset, says Mote: "The future of the state depends on this university."

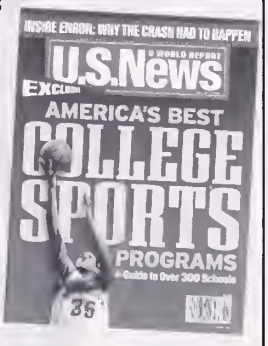
Fulfilling that responsibility is a big job, but it's a role that Mote is accustomed to, having spent his entire academic career at the University of California at Berkeley, where he earned all his degrees, taught engineering and eventually became vice chancellor for University Relations before coming to Maryland.

One of Mote's first tasks here was to serve on a governor's task force to examine the funding and organization of the University System of Maryland. The task force recommended, and the General Assembly enacted into law, a reaffirmation of the university's flagship status and a commitment to funding at levels comparable to the best public universities in the nation.

As president, Mote is committed to making that asset even greater by creating a culture of excellence and civility across the campus, continuing to emphasize the highest quality education for students, strengthening the university's internal and external connections, and achieving distinction as an institution where discovery takes place every day and everywhere.

The university's progress in each of these areas can be measured by the quality of its programs; the stature of its faculty; the talent of its students; partnerships with business; impact on the state's economy; its ability to apply discoveries to global, national and regional problems; and its world-class, state-of-the-art facilities.

Quality Programs



Over the past decade, Maryland's programs have been improving by leaps and bounds. We currently have 65 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the top 25 nationally by U.S. News & World Report, compared with just one program a decade ago.

While the university's academic successes are across the board, it has emerged as a true powerhouse in business, computer science, earth sciences, engineering, education and journalism. The Robert H. Smith School of Business has achieved top 10 rankings from such beacon publications as the Financial Times of London and the Wall Street Journal. Every department in the College of Education has programs ranked in the U.S. News top 25, and the Counseling and Personnel Services Program has long been ranked tops in the nation.

Faculty Stature

With the addition during Mote's third year of a Nobel Laureate in Physics and three more Pulitzer Prize winners (to join three already on the faculty), Maryland continues to attract the best faculty available. More than 30 faculty are members of the national academies in their fields, the highest professional recognition attainable.

Experts on the Maryland faculty are regularly sought by the news media for their views on a wide variety of issues, including politics, international affairs, social trends, economics, the environment, science and technology.

MARYLAND'S COLLEGES & SCHOOLS

College of Agriculture and Natural Resources

The College of Agriculture and Natural Resources offers a variety of academic programs that apply science, management, design and engineering to improve the world in which we live and work. Feeding the world population, developing scientifically-based land-use practices and policies, understanding animal and plant biology, improving nutrition and its effects on human health, and profitably managing farms and agribusinesses in harmony with ecosystems are all vital concerns of the college.

School of Architecture

The School of Architecture offers a four-year undergraduate program leading to the bachelor of science degree in architecture, and a graduate program leading to the professional master of architecture. The undergraduate major in architecture is designed to minimize the time required to complete the curriculum leading to the professional degree. Students receive rigorous and comprehensive instruction from a faculty whose members are active in professional practice or research. Many faculty members have distinguished themselves across the professional spectrum and represent different approaches to architectural design. The B.S. degree in architecture will qualify graduates to pursue a career in any number of fields, such as construction, real estate development, public administration, or historic preservation, or to continue in graduate work in professional fields such as architecture, urban planning, or law.

College of Arts and Humanities

The College of Arts and Humanities embraces a heterogeneous group of disciplines, all of which value the development of critical thinking, fluent expression in writing and speech, sensitivity to ethical and aesthetic standards, and a complex understanding of history and culture. Preparation provides valuable background for careers in a broad range of fields.

College of Behavioral and Social Sciences

The College of Behavioral and Social Sciences is comprised of a diverse group of disciplines and fields of study all of which emphasize a broad liberal arts education as the foundation for understanding the environmental, social and cultural forces that shape our world. Disciplines in the behavioral and social sciences use approaches that range from the scientific to the philosophical, from the experimental to the theoretical.

Robert H. Smith School of Business

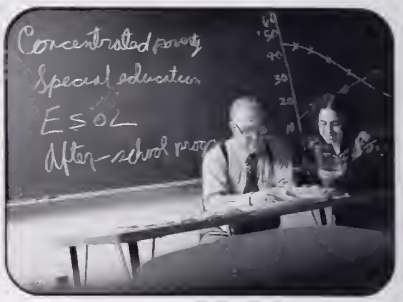
The Robert H. Smith School of Business recognizes the importance of education in business and management to economic, social, and professional development through profit and non-profit organizations at the local, regional, national and international levels. The faculty are scholars, teachers, and professional leaders with a commitment to superior education in business and management, specializing in accounting, finance, decision and information sciences, management science and statistics, management and organization, marketing, logistics and transportation, and business and public policy.

College of Computer, Mathematical, and Physical Sciences

The College of Computer, Mathematical, and Physical Sciences contributes very substantially and effectively to the research activities of the University of Maryland. This college is like a technical institute within a large university. Students majoring in any one of the disciplines encompassed by the college have the opportunity to obtain an outstanding education in their field.

College of Education

The College of Education is a professional college committed to advancing the science and art of teaching/learning, including the practices and processes that occur from infancy through adulthood in both school and non-school settings. The college's mission is to provide preparation for current and future teachers, counselors, administrators, educational specialists, and other related educational personnel, and to create and disseminate the knowledge needed by professionals and policy makers in education and related fields.



A. James Clark School of Engineering

The mission of the A. James Clark School of Engineering is to provide quality engineering education, with sufficient scope to include both fundamental and specialized engineering training, so that graduates are prepared to serve the current and emerging needs of society. In addition to its teaching role, the school feels a related responsibility to conduct strong research programs that contribute to the advancement of knowledge.

College of Health and Human Performance

The College of Health and Human Performance provides preparation leading to the bachelor of science degree in the following professional areas: physical education (K-12), health education (school and community), and family studies. The college also offers curricula in kinesiological sciences and safety education. In addition, each department offers a wide variety of courses for all university students.

Philip Merrill College of Journalism

Located just nine miles from the nation's capital and 30 miles from the bustling commercial port of Baltimore, the Philip Merrill College of Journalism is one of six comprehensive journalism schools in the 10 states stretching from New York to Virginia – the nation's most populous region. But the college has much more than geography going for it. The National Assessment of Journalism Education by the Freedom Forum Media Studies Center at Columbia University designated the college one of "Eleven Exemplary Journalism Schools" nationwide.

College of Information Studies

The College of Information Studies offers degree programs for individuals interested in careers in information services and management. At the master's level, students may specialize in several fields, including archival studies, geographic information systems, health information services, school library media services and science and technology information systems.

College of Life Sciences

The College of Life Sciences offers educational opportunities for students in subject matters relating to living organisms and their interaction with one another and with the environment. Programs of study include those involving the most fundamental concepts of biological science and chemistry and the use of knowledge in daily life, as well as the application of economic and engineering principles in planning the improvement of life.

School of Public Affairs

The School of Public Affairs provides graduate-level, professional education to men and women interested in careers in public service. Five disciplines are emphasized: finance, statistics, economics, politics, and ethics. Students specialize in international security and economic policy, public sector financial management, environmental policy, or social policy.

DEBORAH A. YOW

Director of Athletics
Ninth Year At Maryland • Elon 1974

27 Univ. of Maryland

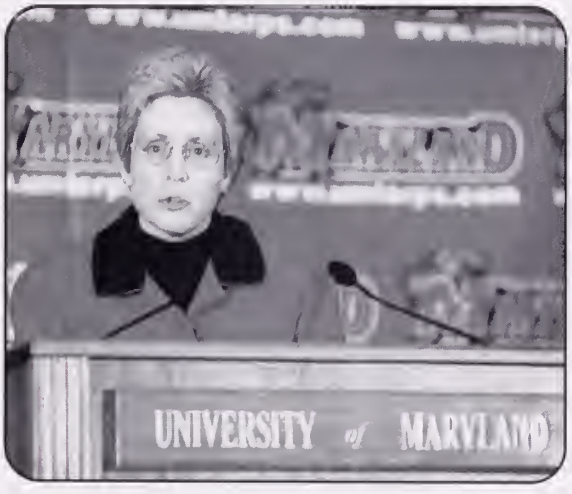
Deborah A. Yow is in the ninth year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, a year that has seen unprecedented success and achievement in Maryland athletics. Each year has brought about continued improvement and accomplishment in Terrapin athletics. In Yow's eight years at Maryland, the Terrapins have won a remarkable nine NCAA national championships as Maryland athletics has soared to new heights.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony of her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability. Likewise, her election to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics two years ago is an indication of the respect with which she is regarded among its 6,100 members representing 1,600 colleges in the U.S. and Canada. She was recently singled out by Street and Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading administrators in the U.S. and she received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award presented by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration.

Yow, who recently served on the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee, is a strong and steady voice on behalf of intercollegiate athletics in America. Since taking over as AD at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all eight of the annual department's budgets (the first balanced budgets in the 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $40 million annually and the sizable prior operative debts have been eradicated.
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided for student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of approximately 85 percent.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 15 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.
- Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 240 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 275 percent during her tenure at Maryland.
- Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 25 teams.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area.



The most recent achievements of Maryland athletics are exceptional:

- Selected in 2002 by U.S. News & World Report as one of the Top 20 athletic programs in the nation (for overall quality and competitive excellence).
- In football, won the Atlantic Coast Conference championship and played in the 2002 Orange Bowl. In men's basketball, won the ACC regular season in 2002, as well as the NCAA national championship. The Terps are among only a few NCAA institutions to have achieved at this distinguished level in these sports in the same year.
- Hired the Associated Press National Coach of the Year, Brenda Frese, as the new women's basketball coach.
- Hired Dave Cottle, the third winningest active men's lacrosse coach in the U.S.
- Field hockey played for the national championship.
- Women's lacrosse has continued its winning ways and won seven consecutive national championships through 2001.
- Enhancing football facilities significantly with Team House and practice field upgrades.
- Moved into the new $125 million Comcast Center.
- The athletics budget was balanced for the eighth consecutive year.
- In 2001-02 10 Maryland teams competed in NCAA postseason play.
- The productivity, morale, and the competitive and academic achievement of Terrapin athletics are exceptional and continue to gain momentum.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past eight years, Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied ... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently ... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools ... to work hard and work smart ... to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and a leader, she clearly models these principles. She is the only known current AD in NCAA Division I who has hired both the National Coach of the Year in football (while at Maryland) and the National Coach of the Year in men's basketball (while at Saint Louis University). Yow is known as "a coach's AD," while also being a highly organized, strategic and proactive leader and administrator. Quite simply, Debbie Yow personifies the relational and management dynamics that are necessary to be an excellent administrator.

A successful former coach at the University of Kentucky and at the University of Florida, she moved into athletics administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, followed by a highly successful tenure as AD at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire athletics program, Dr. Yow recently observed, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets, our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarship, and the Maryland Educational Foundation and M Club members who serve and give liberally. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our success ... and the basis for our bright future."

MICHAEL LIPITZ

Assistant A.D./Administration

Michael Lipitz joined the Terps staff in August 1999 and has served as assistant athletics director for administration since January 2001.

Lipitz works closely with the athletics director in managing the day-to-day operations of the athletics department. He is responsible for many of the department's annual reporting requirements, oversees a variety of internal and external projects, and serves as a liaison to Dr. Charles Wellford, the faculty athletic representative, and the Student Athlete Advisory Council (S.A.A.C).

Lipitz also supervises the Terps' wrestling and women's golf programs and manages entertainment bookings in the Comcast Center. Recently, he spearheaded the department's successful recertification through the second-cycle of the NCAA Division I Athletic Certification Self-Study.

Lipitz graduated cum laude from the University of Maryland with a degree in government and politics and concentrations in English and Political Leadership. He was a four-year varsity starter and two-year co-captain on the men's tennis team and received the Geary F. Eppley Award as the senior letterwinner with the highest overall grade point average.

Before returning to Maryland, Lipitz earned his law degree from Villanova Law School, where he debated for the moot court team and specialized in domestic relations.

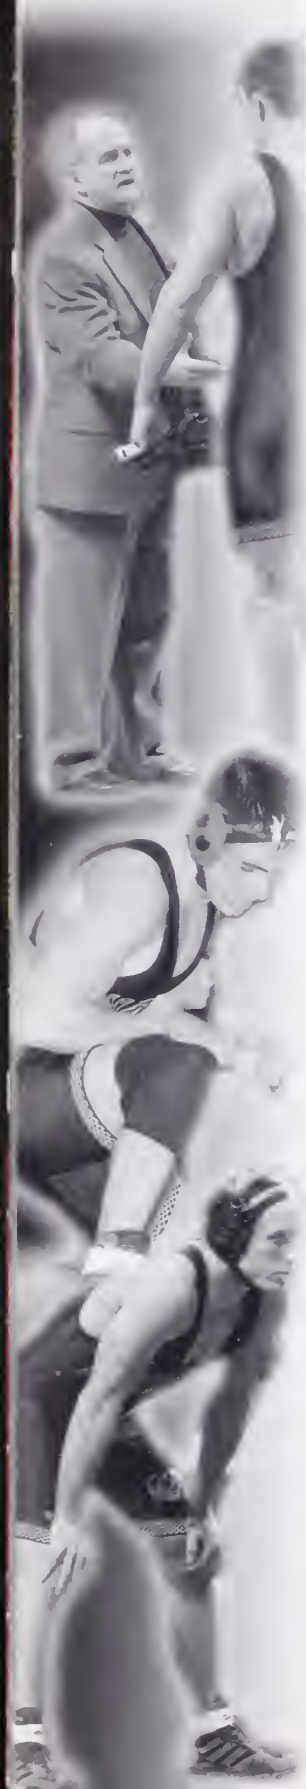
ATLANTIC COAST CONFERENCE

Univ. of Maryland 30



The Tradition

Consistency. It's the mark of true excellence in any endeavor. However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

John Swofford, ACC Commissioner

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now in its 50th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 85 national championships, including 43 in women's competition and 42 in men's. In addition, 120 men and 31 women have earned the coveted title of NCAA champion.

If success is best measured in terms of wins and losses, then the ACC is unrivaled in NCAA annals. With Maryland's victory over Indiana in last year's national title game, ACC teams have captured nine NCAA basketball championships, including five over the last 12 years.

No conference has posted a better NCAA Tournament record than the ACC since the NCAA's inaugural tournament in 1938. The nine current conference members have posted an NCAA Tournament-best mark of 296-150 for a sterling .664 winning percentage against the nation's toughest competition.

Since 1985, when the NCAA Tournament was expanded to 64 teams, the ACC teams have been even more impressive compiling a 184-87 (.679) NCAA record, including 51 "Sweet 16" appearances and 18 Final Four berths. Since 1985, 51 of the 92 ACC teams receiving NCAA berths have won at least two NCAA Tournament games.

Over the last five years, the ACC is the only conference in the nation to have each of its teams ranked at least one week in the Associated Press poll. Even more impressive, since 1990 ACC teams are 161-150 against non-conference ranked opponents.

North Carolina and Duke lead all ACC schools with three NCAA championships each. NC State has two NCAA titles to its credit and Maryland one. The Tar Heels captured NCAA titles in 1957, 1982 and 1993 while the Blue Devils won back-to-back championships in 1991 and 1992 and their third in 2001. The Wolfpack walked away with the coveted crown in 1974 and 1983 while the Terps claimed last year's crown.

The stature of ACC basketball is defined by its national television exposure. An all-time high 154 televised games involving ACC teams headline the league's 2002-03 schedule, including a record 231 appearances. League teams are slated to make 135 appearances on national television networks. Seventy of the league's 72 regular season conference games, including 42 on national television networks are scheduled to be televised.

2001-02 in Review

The ACC's 2001-02 national champions were North Carolina in men's soccer, Maryland in men's basketball and Duke in women's golf. Overall, 97 ACC teams took part in post-season play compiling a 94-57-1 (.622) record.

A total of 188 student-athletes from the ACC earned first, second or third-team All-America honors this past year. In addition the ACC produced eight national Players of the Year, two national Rookies of the Year and six national Coach of the Year recipients.

History of the ACC

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, N.C., with seven charter members - Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wake Forest - drawing up the conference by-laws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference's annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, N.C., where a set of bylaws was adopted and the name became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.

On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted the University of Virginia. The first, and only, withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971 when the University of South Carolina tendered its resignation.

The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when Georgia Tech was admitted. The Atlanta school withdrew from the Southeastern Conference in January of 1964.

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State.

ACADEMIC SUPPORT & CAREER DEV.

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Assistant Director Don Pearman

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.

The mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes.

The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for long-time Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in the Comcast Center. It features a study center that includes 25 desktop computers, a tutoring center, a classroom, a CHAMPS/Life Skills resource room and individual offices for six professional academic counselors, a director of enrichment programs, an assistant program coordinator and two graduate assistants. In addition, the center's extended site is located in the Gossett Football Team House, and includes office space for two professional counselors, a program assistant and a 16-station desktop computer center.

Academic courses, programs and services offered by ASCDU include the following:

- Prospective student-athlete orientation
- Academic counseling
- NCAA academic eligibility monitoring
- Academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops
- Accredited tutorial support
- Individualized learning program
- EDCP 108-K (College learning strategies and skills)
- EDCP 108-M (Math learning strategies and skills)
- UNIV 100/101 (First-year transitions to the university)

The Staff

Nine full-time professionals, two graduate assistants, tutorial support staff and student associates comprise the unit's workforce. Senior Assistant Director Don Pearman serves as the wrestling team's academic support counselor.

Student-Athlete Advisory Council

The Student-Athlete Advisory Council (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs

ASCDU houses the NCAA's (National Collegiate Athletic Association) Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success Program (C.H.A.M.P.S.) and the NCAA Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balanced system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

Highlights of the CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs:

- Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation
- Use athletics as preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes
- Promote respect for diversity among student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes
- Assist student-athletes in building positive self-esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities
- Promote ownership by the student-athletes of their academic, athletic, personal and social responsibilities
- Enhance partnerships between the NCAA, member institutions and their communities for the purpose of education
- Encourage the development of leadership skills

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs Commitment Statements

Commitment to Academic Excellence To support the academic progress of the student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation.

Commitment to Athletic Excellence To build philosophical foundations for the development of athletic programs that are broad-based, equitable and dedicated to the well-being of the student-athlete.

Commitment to Personal Development To support the development of a well-balanced lifestyle for student-athletes, encouraging the emotional well-being, personal growth and decision making skills.

Strength & Conditioning

In the highly competitive collegiate wrestling world the outside-the-ring preparation of the student-athlete is a critical component to the in-the-pool success of any Division I program. Dwight Galt, Maryland's director of strength and conditioning and Craig Fitzgerald, who works with the wrestling team, believe strongly that a solid training program can dramatically improve levels of performance, as well as significantly reduce the chance of injury. The benefit of performing structured strength and power training throughout the entire year has allowed the Terps to reach new levels in physical development.

Craig Fitzgerald Strength Coach

At the University of Maryland, the maximal development of athleticism is the primary goal of the strength and conditioning program. To accomplish this requires more than just strength and power training in the weight room. Agility, flexibility, conditioning, plyometrics, and nutrition also play critical roles. The Terps' strength staff places substantial emphasis on all these areas, with special attention on the improvement of speed potential. Galt and his staff employ a wide range of state-of-the-art training methods to assist in enhancing all aspects of speed development.

The Terps are fortunate to train in two of the premier weight training facilities in the nation. Conveniently located in the Gossett Team House and Comcast Center, these facilities have excellent aesthetic appeal. The Terps' spacious weight rooms includes 7,200 square feet of functional floor space, with two elevated offices that are easily accessible to the training floor.
